A TROUBLESOME SHOWER.

Lights Put Out of Commission, Trol-leys Hold Up—Crippled Car Towod from Williams' Crossing.

A heavy electrical shower, of about we hours duration struck Willimanic about 8.30 p. m. Tuesday. The torm came up without warning and was accompanied by a high wind and mass of black clouds that left the ity in partial twilight for about half an hour.

The electric lights were put out of commission and the trolleys were held up for about an hour. The trolley leaving Norwich at 2.45 p. m. arrived in Williamstic at 4.05 p. m. Between South Windham and Williams' Crossing this car picked up the car which left Williamstic at 3.25, in a partially crippled condition. A spike ripped from the track was put to use as a coupling pin and the car was towed as far as the switch at Williams' Crossing, from which point it went on under its own power.

MOOSE CARNIVAL

Tomises to Be Something to Establish

As interesting is the pageant. Every time the clock marks a minute two immigrants enter the United States at Eillis Island. The pageant will illustrate this very interesting scene. This will be given in the tabernacle Thursday evening.

a New Record for Entertainments

"The biggest thing of its kind Willimantic has ever seen," is what everyone who has anything at all to do with the Moose carnival to be opened the latter part of this week on the home grounds of the lodge says when approached on the subject.

The committee has been working hard for weeks to make the affair one grand success, and the number of concessions obtained by the enterprising manager, Sam Johnson, reads off like a miniature Coney Island. It was found necessary to take the whole of the Hayden lot next to the home, and arrangements have been made to 10.

A part of each afternoon and evening is devoted to some form of recreation or social activity.

The following dally programme shows the varied forms of piay enjoyed by the institute campers:

Monday, 7 p. m.—Reception to the faculty land students; special programme.

Tuesday—1.39, tennis tournament, Reds and Biues picnic; social sing at the stand after the lecture.

Wednesday—1.30, baseball, Reds vs.

Thursday—3-4, athletic meet; h'gh jump, throwing ball, 50 yard dash; social sing after pageant.

arrangements have been made to 40 so. The dance floor, 100 by 75 feet, a one of the largest seen in this end of the state for open air dancing. The Willimantic American band will play for this part of the programme, and also give converts.

The coat and ticket rooms and the room of the busy carnival committee will be located in the building itself, and members of the lodge have been appointed to take care of the various tasks to be performed at the time of the carnival.

The grounds and the midway have been laid out under the direction of Supt. Frank L. STONINGTON

New Story of the Battle of August 1812, Told—Pearls Found in a Floun-der—Town Court Cases.

Cheries Everett Latham of the borough furnishes the facts of an intersetting story of the Battle of Stonington, which was told him by his grandmother. Mrs. Honor States. Mr. Latham's father, Lodowig N. Latham, was seven years old at the time of the bombardment and could himself remember considerable of the incidents connected with it. Mr. Latham's grandmother Mrs. States, was witness of the incident, which he heard from her a number of times, and which has not been included in the accounts published of the battle.

The story as Mr. Latham tells it follows: "One of the Pritish ships left the fleet at Latimer's reef, and in attempting to enter the harbor went aground on Wampassett shoal. To lighten the ship they threw over some shot and shell. They filled launches with soldlers to make a landing and as the fort was located on the west side, they were obliged to row around to the east side of Stonington Point to get out of range of the muskets of the fort. Some of the muskets of the fort. to get out of range of the muskets of the fort. Some of the men at the fort, anticipating the purpose of the British, went down to the wharf outside of the fortifications and got a four pounder cannon, such as was used on a whale ship, and dragged it to the place where the late Frederic Ostman's house now stands. They fired at and struck one of the boats of the landing party amidships, killing the lieutenant, Thomas Barret Powers, who now lies buried in Stonington cemetery ery.
